One day, an old man, who was seen as the cleverest person in the village, was walking along the road when a young man stopped him.

“You have no right to teach others,” he shouted, “You are as stupid(愚蠢的) as everyone else. You are nothing at all.”

The old man was not angry at these words. Instead, he asked the young man, “Tell me, if you buy a gift for someone and that person does not take it, who does the gift belong to(属于)?”

The man was surprised to hear such a strange question, but it was not difficult. “It would belong to me because I bought the gift,” he answered. The old man smiled and said, “That’s right. It is exactly the same with your anger(生气). If you become angry with me and I do not get upset, then the anger falls back on you. You are the only one who becomes unhappy, not me. All you have done is to hurt yourself. If you want to stop hurting yourself, you must stop your anger and become loving instead. When you hate others, you yourself become unhappy. But when you love others, everyone is happy.”

| C. Love brings happiness to everyone. | D. Take gifts in a thankful way. |

C

① Sleep for humans almost always means there is a bed or a mat near here. Animals, however, have many different ways of sleeping.

② For warmth, some animals sleep in groups, such as lions, monkeys, penguins and so on. Elephants also sleep in a group, but they sleep in groups for protection. The larger elephants make a circle around the younger elephants. The larger elephants sleep standing up, while the younger ones lie down to sleep.

③ Some animals sleep in trees. Birds will lock their feet onto a tree to keep from falling out of the tree. Other animals, like squirrels, make nests(筑巢) in the trees to sleep in.

④ Most animals look for dry places to sleep. However, ducks often sleep in water. They hold hands when they sleep in groups to keep from floating away(漂走).

⑤ Most animals lie down to sleep. However, some large animals, like horses, can sleep standing up. The flamingo sleeps standing on just one leg.

⑥ Most animals sleep at night, but some animals are nocturnal. Nocturnal animals sleep in the daytime. Bats and owls are nocturnal animals. They wake up when the sun goes down.

⑦ Animals sleep in many different ways. But, just like humans, every animal must sleep.

23. Why do elephants sleep in groups according to the passage?

- A. They sleep in groups for fun.
- B. They sleep in groups for food.
- C. They sleep in groups for warmth.
- D. They sleep in groups for protection.

24. What does the word “nocturnal” in Paragraph 6 probably mean?

- A. Active at night.
- B. With eyes wide open.
- C. Sleeping at night.
- D. Standing sleep.

25. Which of the following shows the structure(结构) of the passage?

- A. ① / ②③④⑤⑥⑦
- B. ① / ②③④⑤⑥ / ⑦
- C. ①②③④⑤⑥ / ⑦
- D. ① / ②③ / ④⑤⑥⑦

26. What is the main idea of the passage?

- A. Animals sleep at different times of night.
- B. Animals sleep in many different places.
- C. Animals' sleeping hours are different.
- D. Animals sleep in many different ways.

D

Most food documentaries(纪录片) in China are about popular restaurants in big cities. However, director Wang Shengzhi chooses a different way--he turns his camera to people's kitchens in small villages in the countryside.

Filmed by Wang, food documentary Taste of Home was broadcast(播出) on Fujian's South East TV on April 7. Each episode(一集) introduces two dishes from local families in two villages. People can follow the food preparation and cooking while learning the stories of the families and the food. Wang says that the purpose of this part is to take the viewers on a trip back to their hometown.

Most of the dishes that appear in the documentary use ingredients(原料) from the cooks' own fields or yards. Wang knows that living in the city, people know little about where the food comes from. "In this documentary, I want to show the sources of all ingredients, whether it's the pigs kept by those in the show, or the vegetables grown in their fields." he says.

Unlike filming restaurant owners or good cooks who are easier to find, Wang and his team had to work hard to find common people for their documentary. __▲__. They always said, "I'm not a good cook. Why would you like to film me?"

"The documentary shows a feeling of family." Wang says. "The theme of it is not about heroes but common people."

27. What can we learn from Taste of Home?

- ① cooking ways ② travelling tips ③ family stories ④ local dishes
A. ①②③ B. ②③④ C. ①③④ D. ①②④

28. Which question is answered in the third paragraph?

- A. How can we make traditional food?
B. Where can we buy fresh ingredients?
C. How should we choose food ingredients?
D. Where are the ingredients in the show from?

29. Which of the following can be put in "__▲__"?

- A. The interviewees were great cooks.
B. And the chosen people were often surprised.
C. The chosen ones always proudly showed their cooking skills.
D. Most of the villagers were glad to offer their homemade dishes.

30. What's the main difference between Taste of Home and other food documentaries?

- A. It films very good cooks.
B. It shows more cooking skills.
C. It is about common people.
D. It uses special filming methods.
