Dear Mike,

How is everything? I am not happy these days. My parents are angry with me because they think I live an unhealthy life on weekends. They want me to spend my weekend like my sister Jenny. I always get up late. So I usually have nothing for breakfast. I play basketball for an hour then. For lunch, I often eat out. Hamburgers and ice cream are my favourites. I know they are not good for me, but they taste great. After lunch, I usually go to the movies with my friends. Sometimes, I sleep all the afternoon. In the evening, I either watch TV or play computer games. I don't go to bed until eleven thirty.

But Jenny is different. She always gets up at six thirty. Then she brushes teeth and does morning exercises. After that, she has milk and eggs. She does her homework all the morning. For lunch, she eats rice, meat, fish and vegetables. She studies for 3 hours before she eats dinner. Sometimes, she helps with housework after dinner. Then she goes out to take a walk. She reads and takes a shower before going to bed. "What an excellent day I have!" Jenny always says.

It is the weekend! I just want to relax myself well. I hate to hear my parents always say the same words again and again to me. It's terrible to live like Jenny! What can I do?

Yours,
Leo

Nature is full of power(力量) but it is sometimes very interesting. Let’s take some plants as an example.

● Monster Flower

The monster flower is the name of a plant. It has the biggest flower in the world. To people, the plant’s smell is really bad! But bees and other insects love this smell. And that helps the plant!

● Giant Tree

Most trees are tall. But the tallest trees in the world are redwood trees. These trees are slow growers. It takes them 500 years to grow very, very tall and wide. Redwood trees are 300 feet tall. That’s about as tall as a stack of 40 school buses! Redwoods are 30 feet wide. That’s about as wide as 3 school buses side by side.

● Pitcher Plant

The pitcher plant traps insects. This plant smells nice. Insects like its smell. But when an insect slips into(溜进) the pitcher plant, quickly, the pitcher plant catches it!

● Sundew Plant

Insects love the leaves’ smell of the sundew plant. But when an insect creeps or lands on a sundew’s leaf, the insect can’t get away. The leaves are sticky. The insect is stuck(粘住).

22. Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?
- A. Redwoods are like buses.
B. Insects have different smells.
C. People don’t love the sundew plant’s smell.
D. The monster flower has the biggest flower in the world.
